HUD's New Rule on Home Warranty Marketing Agreements

Seminar Attendee $12.00 | $49.00 for RESPRO® Members | $129.00 for Non-Members

On June 25, the U.S. Department of Housing and Urban Development published a long-awaited Interpretative Rule under the Real Estate Settlement Procedures Act (RESPA) with the “do’s and don’ts” on how home warranty companies can pay real estate brokers and agents for marketing their products. The Rule is HUD’s most significant RESPA guidance on marketing agreements in years, and could have a significant impact not only on home warranty agreements but on marketing agreements throughout the industry. Hear about how HUD’s Rule could affect your marketing agreements in a RESPRO® Audio Seminar (with Power Point presentation) with one of the nation’s leading RESPA attorneys, Jay Varon of Foley & Lardner LLP. You’ll have an opportunity to directly ask our expert about your specific circumstances both in advance and during an open Question and Answer period.

Speakers:

- Jay Varon, Esq., Foley & Lardner LLP
- Moderator: Sue Johnson, Esq., RESPRO®
